Extension of the Year of Manufacture License Plate Program.

Once again the California State Assembly is considering a bill (AB 462) that would extend the existing Year of Manufacture license plate program to include cars built between 1963 and 1969 and trucks built between 1963 and 1972. That would address the bulk of first generation Mustangs. The bill passed the Assembly Transportation Committee unanimously on April 10. The bill was reviewed by the Assembly Appropriations Committee on April 19 and was sent to suspense (tabled) until the end of May because its implementation costs were assessed to be greater than $150,000 in the first year. The state financial analyst identified the first year costs as $180,000, but did not consider the offset of applications when coming up with the amount. At $35 per application, it would only take 818 cars to sign up to drive the first year net costs below $150,000 and only 5,143 sign-ups to offset the entire first year cost. The annual additional registration cost for each car would be $10. Owner's of cars which are presently registered with yellow on black plates would not be impacted by this bill.

If we want to see this bill pass to the Assembly floor, where it has been unanimously supported in the past, we need to convince the members of the Appropriations Committee that it would not be a burden on state finances. You can reach the members of the committee by going to assembly.ca.gov and clicking on Committee Directory and then on Committee on Appropriations. The names and e-mail addresses of each of the members is listed there. Drop them a line and let them know how you feel about this bill
